DISCOURSING at considerable length upon the disabilities of Grover Cleveland, Editor O'Connor, of Rochester, records his belief that "it is fair to assume that he who prospers on 'reform' is a fraud." But on that assertion what becomes of Mr. Tilden, who certainly prospered, politically, on reform if any man ever did. Was it poetical justice in his case that after "reform" had elected him, fraud should have done him out of the fruits of his success? Yet if Mr. O'Connor stamps Mr. Tilden as fraudulent, his application of the same mark to Mr. Cleveland is likely to do that gentleman more good than harm.

NO doubt something is going on in these June days besides politics. The colleges usually begin to be stirred up along about this season, and hold commencements and miscellaneous other exercises of a festal nature. It is likely enough that they are at it as usual, or will be presently, and in any other year than this there might be something to say about it. So, too, at this season the city-dwellers begin to extract their stakes, and flee unto the uttermost parts of the earth; some to remote coasts, some to foreign parts, and the rest to wild and untried stations in the country. In any other year than this the flitting of the town-dwellers would call for appropriate remarks.

But this year it is different. A month that has contracted to have two Presidential conventions let loose in its midst has only one seasonable topic for discourse, and that of course is politics. "Who is going to run" is the absorbing question, with the endless supplementary discourse as to the consequences.

IT is one of the penalties of publishing picture papers of merit on set dates that you have to begin betimes, and a good deal is liable to happen between the day the paper goes to press and the day the reader gets it. For instance, the reader knows whether anyone was nominated at Minneapolis, and, if so, who; but on the day these lines were written the latest news was still the resignation of Mr. Blaine from Uncle Ben's

Cabinet. The construction put on that news was that Mr. Blaine would run if he could. LIFE's opinion had been that Mr. Blaine would rather be alive than be President, and LIFE went to press with that conviction undisturbed. You know whether LIFE was right about it. Perhaps not. It may be that Mr. Blaine felt that he had been alive a good while, and President never, and that it would be interesting to try a change.

Anyhow, whether Uncle Ben got another call, or was beaten by Mr. Blaine's defection, some important truths that still hold good were evident enough when this was written. One of them was that the internal difficulties of the Republicans were even more ominous than those of the Democrats. To have seeds of dissension sown in February, blossom in May, and harvested in June is bad enough, but not so bad by a jug-full as to have the sowing and the blooming both come in June and the harvest in November. So, briefly, Mr. Blaine's resignation seemed to leave his party in a worse pickle than that in which the silly New York State Midwinter convention involved the Democrats, and whatever was the upshot at Minneapolis it won't matter much if only the right citizen is nominated at Chicago.

IT is rather gruesome news that the New York University has been swapping sites, and that the old University Building must soon give place to a modern structure. New York will miss the Washington Square Bastille. It has been one of the places that were different from the rest of the town. Redolent of romance and crime, it had a whole atmosphere to itself, and it was no great feat of the imagination for a man who dwelt in it to think he was somebody else and not a resident of Gotham at all.

She (after an absence of several years abroad): How do you do? So delighted, I'm sure. Not married yet? Why, the last time I saw you, it seems to me you were engaged.

He: Yes, I was.

She: Let's see; to whom?

He: To you.

OUR FRESH AIR FUND.

NOW that the warmth of summer is well upon us, LIFE wishes to remind you of your generosity in the years gone by, and to suggest, with proper delicacy, that you do not withdraw the helping hand you have taught us to rely upon. The city-bound children of the poor are numberless, and waiting, and our contribution box is open.

A year ago, as our readers are aware, we transferred our summer home for children from New Jersey to Branchville, in Connecticut.

It is our wish, before entering upon another season, to pay a word of tribute to the kindness, generosity and active interest of Mr. Edwin Gilbert. It is through this firm friend to the children that we acquired, for a term of years, a spacious house, with its outbuildings and surrounding acres of grass and orchards, at a rental so low that it becomes practically a gift.

Our cash account to date is as follows:

Balance from Oct. 10, 1891..	$1348.10	Entertainment at Mrs. A. F. J.'s.....	34.70

SUMMER TRADE OPENS WITH A BOOM.

GRATEFULLY ACKNOWLEDGED.

"HARRY, love," said Mrs. Noopop, when her husband came from the office one afternoon. "I received a lovely letter from papa to-day."

"Ah!" replied Noopop.

"Yes. He congratulates us on the birth of our dear baby."

"That's good."

"Yes, and he says it will cost us more to live now—that babies are expensive."

"I suppose that is very true," the happy father assented.

"And so dear papa sent us a check for $1,000. Wasn't that good of him?"

"I should say it was!" exclaimed Noopop, enthusiastically. "I'll sit right down and thank him for his generous contribution to the Fresh Heir Fund."

THE VACATION DISEASE.

BROTHER CHUMP: Our pastor's health seems to be failing rapidly. He has a hacking cough, and his eyes have an anxious, yearning look. What is your diagnosis of his complaint, Doctor?

DR. SLADE (a philosopher): In confidence, Brother Chump, I am pretty well satisfied that it is the hanky-panky. If not checked very shortly it will be followed by a vacation.

RECOGNIZING THE SITUATION.

"IS it not gratifying," said Caraway, genially removing some dust from Hooks' shoulder, "is it not indeed most comforting to reflect that our friendship, despite the vicissitudes of life, still remains as strong and unimpaired as it was in the beginning?"

"I should say so," assented Hooks. "Will twenty do this time, do you think?"

"GETTING IT DOWN PAT."

"KING KALIKO," at the Broadway, is incomparably the best light opera produced this season. Mr. Solomon's music is not very original, but it is catchy and pleasing. The scene is laid in the Sandwich Islands, which gives scope for pronounced novelty in costumes and effects. Mr. Edwin Stevens is very clever as "King Kaliko," and the cast throughout is excellent. The piece is a decided relief after the usual dreary efforts to transplant foreign successes to the American stage.

TO THE SUCCESSFUL CANDIDATE:

OWING to LIFE's large edition we are obliged to go to press without knowing what your name is. It may be Blaine, or Harrison, or Dark Horse. Some of our Democratic friends say that anyway your name is Mud. You will know more about that in November. No matter who you are, we are sorry for you. For the next five months you will have to smile on every office-chaser who cares to grasp your hand. The newspapers will give publicity to every detail of the private life of yourself and your immediate and remote relatives. Human nature will thrust itself on you in its most debased and disgusting aspect. And even after all this you may not be elected. We are really sorry for you. Are you not a little bit sorry for yourself? The game is a big one, but is it worth the candle?

PRIMUS: Oh, you don't know me. I have a most ungovernable temper.

SECUNDUS: Can't get mad when you know you ought to, eh?

HE ALSO NEEDED A GUN.

"DON'T YOU KNOW IT'S WICKED TO SHOOT THE DEAR LITTLE BIRDS, OLIVER? THEY NEVER HARM YOU."

"ZEY DON'T! EV'Y TIME I ASK MAMMA WHAT SHE'S SPANKIN' ME FOR, AN' WHO TOLD HER, SHE SAYS IT WAS A LITTLE BIRD, AND I'M GOIN' TO GET EVEN WITH 'EM."

GO SLOW, AESCULAPIUS.

THE intelligent citizen of Atlanta who refused to pay a New York doctor $2,500 for six days' services deserves respect and encouragement. There should be more refusals of this nature. It is refreshing to read the testimony of other physicians who consider $300 a day as very modest recompense. Suppose your architect should charge you $300 a day! And yet the services of the average architect are of infinitely more value than the random guessing of the average physician. Moreover, there is a cruel suspicion in the community that the more eminent the physician the greater the humbug.

DREADFUL.

"Oh, Jack!" the maiden eager cried,
 "I'm learning billiard-law,
 For pa has just been teaching me
 The 'follow,' 'English,' 'draw.'"
 "Dost know what 'kissing' is?" I asked,
 In accents calm and slow,
 And heard the blushing maid reply,
 "Well—not in billiards, no!"

—Bowdoin Orient.

A TIGER once invited a goat to dinner. The goat was tickled to death at the notice of the beast, and wore his spike-tailed coat and link sleeve-buttons in token of his appreciation.

"Can I help you to some of this venison steak?" the tiger asked the goat very cordially.

The goat could not eat venison steak, but he dissembled cleverly and preserved a smiling exterior.

"My physician," he protested, "positively forbids venison steak."
 There was nothing else on the table, and the poor goat was obliged to sit idly by while the tiger devoured a hearty repast. But the goat was not disposed to deprive himself of the sweets of revenge. He accordingly pressed the tiger to dine with him the following evening.

The invitation was accepted with thanks, and promptly on time the tiger thrust his hind legs under the goat's mahogany.

"Can I help you," sweetly inquired the host, "to some of this fricasseed tomato can with brown paper sauce?"

"No, thank you," rejoined the tiger, "my doctor forbids."

"So sorry," murmured the goat in secret glee. "I fear you will have only an unsatisfactory meal."

"Oh, I shall do very well," protested the tiger. Whereat he fell upon and devoured the goat himself.

"Alas!" exclaimed the latter with his dying breath, "I was too funny."

This fable teaches that it is perfectly proper to take an insult from some people without resenting it. It is all a matter of judgment.—Detroit Tribune.

A NORTH COUNTRY Scotch boy had dislocated his leg, and was taken by his mother to a "bone-setter," in whom she had great faith. The leg was duly examined, and it was found necessary to haul it very severely in order, as the bone-setter said, "to get the bone in." The lad was liberal with his screams while this was going on, but eventually the bone was "got in," and the patient was told that he would be all right in a few days. "Didn't Davie do the thing well?" said the joyous mother. "Aye, he did, mither," answered the lad; "but I wisna sic a fule as tae gie him ma sair leg."—Argonaut.

THE Bishop of Amiens was an adept in conveying a moral lesson under the guise of a jest or a witty remark. To a lady who consulted him about the use of paint, which some allowed but others forbade her, he replied as follows:

"As for myself, I always like people to observe a happy medium in everything, therefore I will allow you to use it on one side of your face."—Exchange.

False Economy.

Is practiced by many people, who buy inferior articles of food because cheaper than standard goods. Surely infants are entitled to the best food obtainable. It is a fact that the Gail Borden "Eagle" Brand Condensed Milk is the best infant food. Your grocer and druggist keep it.

All Outdoors Is Yours

If you didn't stay indoors so much you would do more business and feel better doing it—You work too hard—ride in a stuffy car—live so near the office that you don't feel outdoors—no air—no exercise—no fun—Bicycle—you'll be a new man—Drugless Nature is the medicine you're after—Cycling is the fashionable, healthful, joyful, fascinating, popular recreative exercise of the world—safer than carriage riding—safe as walking—costs nothing to keep—The cyclist sees everything—he's where everything is—as free as freedom—from the heights of exhilarated happiness he cannot fall—from his Columbia Safety—If you and your wife and your children knew how much they need open air there wouldn't be enough Columbias to go 'round.

BOOKS ABOUT BICYCLES

We have written a large book about Columbia bicycles—52 pages, 41 illustrations—free upon application to any Columbia agent, or sent by mail for two two-cent stamps. We have a little book, small enough for the pocket—concentration of the larger book—free by mail for a postal card. Pope Mfg. THE character of the old Illinois courts in which Abraham Lincoln practiced, was very primitive. In one case, a livery stable horse had died soon after being returned, and the person who had hired it was sued for damages. The question turned largely upon the reputation of the defendant as a hard rider. A witness was called—a long, lank Westerner.

"How does Mr. So-and-So usually ride?" asked the lawyer. Without a gleam of intelligence, the witness replied: "A-straddle, sir."

"No, no," said the lawyer; "I mean, does he usually walk, or trot, or gallop?"

"Wal," said the witness, apparently searching in the depth of his memory for facts, "when he rides a walkin' horse, he walks, when he rides a trottin' horse, he trots, and when he rides a gallopin' horse, he gallops, when—" The lawyer was angry.

"I want to know what gait the defendant usually takes, fast or slow."

"Wal," said the witness, "when his company rides fast, he rides fast, and when his company rides slow, he rides slow."

"I want to know, sir," the lawyer said, very much exasperated, and very stern now, "how Mr. So-and-So rides when he is alone."

"Wal," said the witness, more slowly and meditatively than ever, "when he was alone, I wa'n't along, and I don't know." The laugh at the questioner ended the cross-examination.—The Century.

A Midsummer Holiday Pleasure Tour to Atlantic City via the Pennsylvania Railroad.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has just announced a delightful midsummer holiday tour to Atlantic City on July 2d, returning July 5th. Some of the assured features of this tour are a special train of Pennsylvania Railroad standard coaches, luncheon on the train going, a sojourn at the famous United States Hotel, a tourist agent, an experienced chaperon, and a baggage master for the benefit of those taking trunks, as no charge will be made for the transfer of baggage. The special will leave New York at 11.00 A. M., Jersey City at 11.15, and stop en route at Newark, 11.29; Elizabeth, 11.38 A. M., and Trenton, N. J., at 12.30 P. M.

Rates for the round trip will be $12.75 from New York, Newark, and Elizabeth, and $11.25 from Trenton.

These rates include railroad fare, luncheon en route going, and accommodations at United States Hotel, Atlantic City, from supper July 2d until and including breakfast July 5th, 1892. Returning, the party will leave Atlantic City by special train 9.00 A. M., July 5th, 1892, arriving in New York about noon.

The tour itself is based on a very liberal plan, and its success is assured from the fact that the holiday season will appeal to all needing and desiring an inexpensive, profitable, and delightful tour. Application for space and tickets should be made to Tourist Agent, 849 Broadway, N. Y.
